OUR PRESIDENTS

JAMES MADISON.

The fourth president of the United States succeeded Thomas Jefferson in 1800 and served two terms. He was born at Port Conway, Va., in 1751. Being a politician rather than a soldier, he took no active part in the Revolutionary war. He was honored with many offices by his native state. He did able work in the framing of the constitution. During his occupancy of the presidency occurred the war of 1812. After his retirement Madison settled on his estates at Montpelier, Va., and wrote much upon public topics. He was associated with Alexander Hamilton and John Jay in the authorship and publication of the "Federalist" essays in favor and in explanation of the United States constitution. Of the eighty-five essays, twenty-nine were by Madison. He died in 1836 at the age of eighty-five years.

I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Bort & Co.

Birthday Party.

One of the most complete and successful events that has taken place in this vicinity for some time, was the surprise Mr. Edward Rish gave to his sisters, Misses Ada and Nada Rish, Saturday evening, August 1st. Their 18th birthday being on the 30th. of July, but Edward thought he wait would until Saturday evening so that he could get a large crowd of merry young people to gather up and march into the parlor where Nada was busy at the organ and never heard the racket until nearly everybody was in the room. To say the girls were surprised, would be putting it entirely too mild. Why, the girls were scared so that they were speechless for some moments.

After they regained, everybody began to enjoy themselves by games of all sorts, and very fine music, until a late hour, when all took their departure, declaring they were well entertained.

Among a few of those present were: Misses Margaret Blum, Anna Gordon, Clara Hildebrandt, Ida Lutz, May Gordon, Minnie Lutz, Emma Myers, Bertha Lutz, Tena Bailey, and Messrs.
